

Global Work Model Policy

Scope

This Policy applies to all Directors, Officers and employees of all Cognizant entities, subsidiaries and joint ventures over which Cognizant has operational control (collectively “Associates”).

This Policy covers all Work Model arrangements, including office-based, hybrid and remote.

This Policy does not cover individuals not on Cognizant payroll including those hired by Cognizant as contractors or through third-party vendors.

Guiding principles

Cognizant embraces varied Work Models and Work Locations as a viable approach that is client-led, account-led and leader-led, considering the business needs and role responsibilities of the job.

Work Models define how much of the work must be completed from the Work Location.

- Hybrid: Associate works out of either a Cognizant or Client facility 2-3 days per week
- Office based: Associate works out of either a Cognizant or Client facility 4-5 days per week
- Remote: Associate works out of approved remote working location within their payroll country 4-5 days per week.

In line with our values, Cognizant decisions about Work Models and Locations will be driven by local legislation and regulations, client requirements, country requirements, and the requirements of the role.

Associate’s terms and conditions of employment with Cognizant unless local law requires the employment contract to be modified. Where allowed by law, Work Locations and Work Models are also not permanent in nature. An Associate Work Location and Work Model may vary throughout employment and Cognizant reserves its rights to change them for any reason.

Translations

Spanish \(Latin America\)

French \(Canada\)

Key definitions

Work Model: Indicates how the work for a particular role is performed (in-office, hybrid or remote), as defined in ESA.

Work Location: Indicates the primary work location (physical address) where the work for a particular role is performed (Cognizant, client office or home address), as defined in ESA.

Remote Working: encompasses all terms used for working from an approved remote location including, but not limited to telecommuting, telework, working from home, mobile work, flexible workplace, virtual work, and hybrid work.

Related policies and processes

- Corporate Security Work From Home Requirements
- Corporate Security Work from Home / BYOD Guidance
- Business Visitor Policy \(cross-border work\)
- Work Location Requirements for Visa Holders
- Code of Ethics
- Acceptable Use Policy
- Intellectual Property Policy

All Cognizant policies, including the Acceptable Use Policy (AUP) and Code of Ethics are applicable to all Associates, including time spent working remotely. Client security protocols and acceptable use and remote working policies may also be applicable, depending on the Associate's role and project. Associates should refer to the applicable country addendum local requirements.

In the case of a Hybrid Work Model, the number of days per week an Associate spends at an on-site workplace compared with working remotely will vary. Factors that will affect the Associate's Hybrid schedule include the nature of the role, what is happening within their role and team at any particular time, the needs of the organization, departmental goals and objectives, the need for in-person collaboration, country requirements, or addendums to this policy.

Work Location requirements for visa holders

Visa holders must comply with all applicable government rules and restrictions, including immigration, employment and global tax laws that regulate where they can work. Prior to changing Work Location, Global Mobility Travel Support must review, evaluate and approve such arrangements. Please refer to the Global Mobility page on Be.Cognizant.

Role changes

When Associate's change roles, their Work Location and Work Model may also change as determined by the requirements of the next role.

Exceptional circumstances

There may be exceptional circumstances (e.g., natural disaster, regional crisis, pandemic, political unrest) where Cognizant may temporarily allow Associates to work remotely or in a hybrid manner. In these exceptional circumstances, Associates are not guaranteed the ability to continue that arrangement when Cognizant determines the exceptional circumstances are no longer a factor. Cognizant reserves its rights to change Work Models extended to Associates for any reason.

Temporary international remote work

Remote Working requests, formal or informal, that entails working from a country different from the Associate's payroll country, regardless of duration, requires additional approvals. Please refer to Appendix A for further details and requirements.

Associates who are approved for international remote work are responsible and liable for addressing and resolving any compliance obligations that may be

Related policies and processes

- Global Harassment, Discrimination & Workplace Bullying Prevention Policy
- Ethics & Compliance Training Policy
- Global Performance Management Policy
- Global Workplace Misconduct and Remediation Policy

associated with their time in the host country, including, but not limited to, the associate portions of income and social taxes, health and other types of insurance, bank account reporting, and complying with the visa requirements as communicated by Global Mobility. In addition to meeting any personal obligations, Associates must also comply with all reasonable company requests to support Cognizant compliance obligations when an agreed international remote arrangement triggers such obligations.

For compliance reasons, associates are not permitted to work in India or China if they are not on the respective country payroll. Associates are not permitted to work in any countries that are on the Cognizant or client embargo list. Associates also cannot bring any Cognizant or client IT assets into embargoed countries or attempt to access Cognizant or client networks from these locations. Refer to the Global Trade Policy and Acceptable Use Policy for further details. Requests for temporary international Remote Working in India, China or an embargoed country will not be considered or accepted.

Associates who work remotely outside of their country of payroll without obtaining proper pre-approval will be subject to Disciplinary Consequences.

Tax responsibilities

Associates who work remotely, for any period of time, from another tax or multiple tax jurisdictions are responsible for determining their taxes correctly and are wholly responsible for any consequential personal tax filings and tax payments. Associates are encouraged to consult a tax professional to determine tax liability.

Remote Work Location

The Associate's Home Manager, in consultation with the Business Manager, as applicable, can approve an Associate's remote Work Location if it does not result in work outside of the payroll country or result in a personal relocation. Refer to the respective country addendum for country process if it differs from Home Manager approval. Also, see the International Remote Work and Relocation Requests sections for details about these types of requests.

Prior to working from the location, the Associate must be approved to do so and ensure they have:

- a space that is quiet, free from distraction, and conducive to the work being performed,
- tools, resources and an appropriate environment to support maintaining and protecting confidential information,
- access to a secure and adequate internet connection,
- all required software and hardware,
- completed and returned any training, assessments, agreements or contracts, if required, and
- the ability to meet any applicable work health and safety requirements.

Reimbursement or allowances

In countries where Cognizant provides various allowances such as remote work allowance, internet allowance, transportation allowance, or car allowance/leases, Associates will not be eligible to claim both a transportation/ car related allowance or benefit and a Remote Working allowance/reimbursement, as allowed by local law.

Generally, Cognizant does not provide allowances or reimbursement for utilities, equipment, furniture, or other costs incurred from working remotely, except where required by law. Where required by law, Cognizant will provide for such allowances or reimbursements. There may also be other situations or geographies where for business continuity and to ensure access to sufficient internet connectivity, Cognizant may provide reimbursement or allowance related to internet. Any such provision is addressed in the country addendums.

Equipment

Equipment supplied by Cognizant, directly or through reimbursement, will be owned and maintained by Cognizant. Cognizant retains control over the equipment provided and reserves the right to monitor company equipment even when used at an Associate's remote Work Location in accordance with local law.

If Cognizant or client equipment is stolen or lost, please refer to the Physical Security Acceptable Use Standard for incident handling. Cognizant equipment will be covered by company insurance policies. However, Cognizant will not be responsible for the theft, loss, damage or repairs to Associate owned property. Associates are expected to ensure they have the necessary insurance to protect their property and interests.

When the Remote Working arrangement ends, whether that be as determined by Cognizant, this policy or at the Associate's request, the Associate will return all equipment provided by the company or client, in proper working condition. Failure to return equipment will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of local law or pursuant to applicable law or regulations.

Application and Equipment Support

Associates experiencing technical issues with applications or Cognizant issued IT equipment can contact GSD for support using the channels listed below.

Live Support: <https://1ct.es/ls>

Toll-Free: US: +1 (866) 822-2024, UK: +0 (800) 678-1616, IN: +1 (800) 572-0473

To speak to a support analyst directly, use IVR options 1-4-6-4.

For MAC support, use IVR options 1-4-5-2.

Associates can bookmark the Helpdesk options article on Be.Cognizant for more detailed support guidelines.

Working hours and schedule

Working hours, schedules, and responsiveness will generally remain the same whether an Associate is working remotely or at a Cognizant or Client Facility. Associates are expected to be available through the established communication channels for their team, such as MS Teams. Non-work-related events and activities should not disrupt or interfere with meeting work obligations and successful productivity.

Associates are responsible for maintaining their Outlook calendar and communicating their Work Model and Location to their teams, internal partners, external partners, and clients.

While we recognize that occasional emergencies do occur, Remote Working must not be a long-term or permanent substitute for child or adult/elder care. Cognizant does offer programs and benefits to support caregivers. Please refer to the respective Be.Cognizant page to understand what support is available.

Requests to use sick leave, vacation or other leave must be approved in the same manner regardless of Work Model.

Refer to the Strategy & Technology Policy Hub for applicable risk management policies. Also refer to the Corporate Security Remote Working Requirements, Corporate Security Work from Home / BYOD Guidance and the Intellectual Property Policy for further expectations and requirements.

Performance management

Associate goals and performance expectations are based on their role, not Work Location or Work Model. This means that an Associate's job duties and objectives should remain relatively unchanged regardless of Work Model. Associates are expected to maintain productivity and meet performance outcomes and established goals.

Performance Management cycle activities apply to all Associates and managers regardless of Work Location or Work Schedule. Associates should refer to the Global Performance Management Policy.

Relocation requests for personal reasons

Associates must notify and obtain approval from their Home Manager and HR Partner prior to moving to a different city, state, province or country for personal reasons. The Associate must meet Cognizant and local country criteria. If the request is denied, the Associate will continue to be bound contractually and be expected to work in their place of posting as set out in their terms of employment subject to local laws.

If an Associate has their personal relocation approved while they have a Remote Work Model and their Work Model changes to include work from the Cognizant or client facility, any relocation required may be at their own expense.

If Cognizant requests relocation to fulfill a business need, the relevant relocation policy would apply.

Reporting to a physical location

Associates in a remote Work Model, may be required to work from a Cognizant or client location to meet business needs, or for planned in-person training or meetings, at the request of their manager.

Risk management

Our ability to operate and succeed as a company depends on every Associate doing their part to protect and secure Cognizant and client confidential and proprietary information.

Wellbeing, health and safety

Regardless of the Work Model or Work Location, Associates must be flexible to ensure client and internal partner obligations are met. This may include the Associate being required to report to or travel to a location other than their primary location for a business need, attending an early or late meeting, or working unexpected hours to meet a project or client deliverable. However, we do not expect our Associates to always “be on”.

Associates are expected to maintain their workspace at their Work Location in a safe manner, free from safety hazards and comply with direction or requirements concerning the safety of their workplace. For those in a remote Work Model, this includes ensuring that they have an environment that is compliant with any applicable health and safety laws and will not result in long-term health issues. To the extent permitted by local law, Cognizant will not be responsible for injuries obtained at a remote Work Location.

At Cognizant we invest in programs that support our Associates' overall wellbeing and ability to thrive. Associates are strongly encouraged to use these wellbeing resources, including the Employee Assistance Program. Country specific resources can be found on Be.Cognizant.

Reasonable accommodations

Requests for an alternate Work Location and/or Work Model as a reasonable accommodation for a disability will continue to be managed through established country processes. Please refer to the respective country HR Be.Cognizant Page.

Policy modifications

Cognizant reserves the right to amend its policies as necessary. Any changes to the Global Work Model Policy will be approved by the Chief People Officer.

This policy is subject to consultation with and approval of local works councils, where applicable.

Disciplinary consequences

Subject to local laws and regulations, a violation of this policy could result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination. If Associates are aware of a violation of this policy, they have an obligation to report it to the company. As stated in Cognizant's Whistleblower and Non-Retaliation Statement, Cognizant does not tolerate retaliation against any individual who submits a good faith report of a violation or possible violation of law, the Code of Ethics, or other Cognizant policies.

To report a possible violation of this policy, visit Cognizant's Compliance Helpline (a secure and confidential reporting system) at: www.cognizant.com/compliance-helpline.

Version history

Revision Date	Description of Change
AUG-01-2022	Initial Release
OCT-11-2022	Updated Spain Addendum
OCT-19-2022	Standardization of Template
OCT-31-2022	Updated India Addendum
FEB-23-2023	Updated Chile & Argentina Addendum
AUG-31-2023	Updated Safe working conditions in Argentina Addendum
NOV-13-2023	Belgium addendum added, general formatting updates throughout document
FEB-11-2024	Policy renamed from Global Remote Working Policy to Global Work Model Policy. Replaced Work Schedule terminology with Work Model terminology. Language refined in global policy and India addendum to support modification of associate Work Locations and Work Schedules.
FEB-29-2024	Fixed broken links, India appendix updated to remove “onsite” term from and reordered Recordkeeping section content for clarity
JUL-04-2024	Ireland moved out of the UK addendum to address changes in local legislation
AUG-23-2024	Updated Belgium Addendum Added Netherlands Addendum
DEC-10-2024	Updated India Addendum with RTO Maternity accommodations and removed data card and dongle under telecommuting expenses.
DEC-23-2024	Added Brazil Addendum
JAN-20-2025	Added Colombia Addendum
OCT-01-2025	Added North America Addendum

Policy control information

Policy Name: Global Work Model Policy

Revision Date: OCT-01-2025

Policy Owner: Chief People Officer

Department: Human Resources

Effective Date: AUG-01-2022

APPENDIX A

International Remote Work Request Process

Associates first obtain tentative approval from Home Manager and HR Partner for their international remote work request. With tentative approval the Associate or Home Manager may contact Global Mobility (GM) (via GMTravelsupport@cognizant.com) to initiate the required assessment.

Global Mobility will review each case and provide the appropriate assessment results to the requestor, Home Manager and HR Partner.

The Home Manager and HR Partner will make their final decision based on GM assessment and client approval, as applicable. Client should only be approached after assessment has been completed and final internal decision has been made.

HR Partner will notify GM of final decision and approved dates of remote work for recordkeeping.

APPENDIX B

Country addendums to the Global Work Model Policy

Addenda modification

Cognizant reserves the right to amend its policies and country addenda, as necessary. Any changes to a country addendum will be approved by the Head of HR for the respective country.

Addendum table of contents

Argentina addendum

Belgium addendum

Brazil addendum

Chile addendum

Colombia addendum

India addendum

Ireland addendum

Netherlands addendum

Spain addendum

UK addendum

North America addendum

UK addendum

Work Models

Cognizant United Kingdom associates will work under one of the Work Models outlined in the Global Work Model Policy. Cognizant UK will have three Work Locations: Cognizant Facility, Client Facility and Remote. The two Work Models that will allow work to be performed from an approved remote location are: Hybrid and Remote.

Scope

This addendum applies to all employees of all Cognizant entities, subsidiaries, and joint ventures over which Cognizant has operational control (collectively “Associates”) within the UK. It does not apply to contractual homeworkers. The UK Contractual Homeworking Policy is located here. Associates on probation may work Hybrid or Remote; however, if the Associate on probation has performance concerns, they may be required to attend a Cognizant Facility location, where the team/manager is based, so that they can be supported sufficiently.

Guiding principles

The Line Manager (minimum Manager grade level) determines which roles will be suitable for Hybrid working / Remote working in line with the considerations set out in the Global Work Model Policy. Line Managers are responsible for measuring the success of the arrangement. They will have assessed business needs before determining whether a role is suitable for Hybrid or Remote working. If Associates have any concerns about the decision made, they should speak to their skip level manager or HR Partner.

Contractual office location (Cognizant or client facility)

An Associate’s contractual office location, in a Cognizant or Client Facility, still applies during a Hybrid or Remote working arrangement. This means that the Associate could be required to base themselves in their contractual office location when a business need arises or if the role or assignment changes.

Visa and job permit holders

Working in a different location may impact an Associate’s visa or job permit status. Associates on a sponsored visa should be in a Cognizant or Client Facility for a minimum of three (3) days per week. If this is not achievable, the Associate should contact the immigration team to ensure they are complying with any and all applicable government restrictions on where they can work.

Working environment

The table on the following page outlines the scope and expectations of the Associate’s working equipment and environment when working Hybrid or Remotely.

Equipment	Scope	Expectations
Utilities	Lighting and heating costs in the remote location.	The Associate covers these costs.
Workstation equipment	Table, desk or flat surface, chair, suitable lighting and heat. The configuration and equipment required will vary depending on the nature of the tasks to be performed.	The remote Work Location must be suitably equipped and configured to enable the Associate to perform their role and duties effectively and safely.
Cognizant IT equipment	This includes a suitable computer/laptop and associated IT equipment provided by Cognizant.	Associates should discuss with their Line Manager if they have any additional IT equipment requirements.

Health and safety

Associates must complete the health & safety homeworking training module before commencing their remote working arrangement. During the module they will be asked questions about their remote working set-up. If required, a qualified ergonomic assessor will conduct a one-to-one review of the home set up to determine if additional support equipment is needed. If Associates do not have access to the training module or if they have any questions, they must contact HealthandSafetyUK@cognizant.com.

Changing Work Location and/or Work Model (Hybrid or Remote Working)

An Associates Work Location and/or Work Model (Remote or Hybrid) may be changed, suspended, or terminated at any time within full discretion of Cognizant management, including for failure to adhere to Cognizant policies, business needs or any other reason. Cognizant will provide advance notice of at least one week. If the Associate wishes to amend their Work Location and/or Work Model, they must discuss this with their Line Manager.

Ireland addendum

Scope

This addendum applies to all employees of all Cognizant entities, subsidiaries, and joint ventures over which Cognizant has operational control (collectively “Associates”) within Ireland.

Working environment

The table below outlines the scope and expectations of the Associate’s working equipment and environment when working Hybrid or Remotely.

Equipment	Scope	Expectations
Utilities	Lighting and heating costs in the remote location.	The Associate covers these costs.
Workstation equipment	Table, desk or flat surface, chair, suitable lighting and heat. The configuration and equipment required will vary depending on the nature of the tasks to be performed.	The remote Work Location must be suitably equipped and configured to enable the Associate to perform their role and duties effectively and safely.
Cognizant IT equipment	This includes a suitable computer/laptop and associated IT equipment provided by Cognizant.	Associates should discuss with their Line Manager if they have any additional IT equipment requirements.

Health and safety

Associates must complete the mandatory health and safety homeworking training module Healthy Working before commencing their remote working arrangement. The course invitation will come from the third-party vendor and can be accessed with Cognizant single sign-on. Associates will receive reminders in case any portion of the training is incomplete. During the Healthy Working training module, associates will be asked questions about their remote working set-up. If required, after completing the training and risk assessment questions, a qualified ergonomic assessor will conduct a one-to-one review of the home set up to determine if additional support equipment is needed. Any support equipment required will be charged to the Associate’s project. If Associates do not have access to the training module or if they have any questions or concerns, they must contact HealthandSafetyUK@cognizant.com

Associate initiated remote working requests

Eligibility

In compliance with the Work Life Balance and Miscellaneous Provisions Act of 2023, effective March 7, 2024, Associates may request to work remotely at any time. An approved arrangement may only begin once the associate has completed six (6) months of continuous service with Cognizant. Rehired employees with an employment gap of 26 weeks or less will not be required to wait six (6) months.

Request Submission

Employees must submit their remote working request at least eight (8) weeks before the proposed starting date. The Associate must complete the Ireland Remote Working Request in its entirety. Incomplete requests will not be considered. The associate can resubmit once they have all the required details.

Consideration Process

All requests will be considered in an objective, fair, and reasonable manner. Cognizant may take into account business needs, client requirements, role suitability and requirements, as well as the employee's reasons for requesting remote working, and any other parameters allowed under the law. A response to the request will be provided within four (4) weeks of its submission. If a decision cannot be reached within this timeframe, the associate will be notified via email with an updated deadline, which will not exceed eight (8) weeks from the complete request submission.

Approval and Agreement

If the remote working arrangement is approved, a signed agreement will be added to the associate's contract. Any changes to the start date, duration, or other details of the approved arrangement must be made with a written agreement before or after the arrangement begins.

Termination of Arrangement

Cognizant reserves the right to terminate a remote working arrangement if it substantially impacts the business or if Cognizant determines that the associate is not fulfilling the requirements of their role. In such cases, the associate will be provided with notice stating the reason for termination and the date by which they must return to the original working arrangement, which will not be less than seven (7) business days.

Spain addendum

Work from home schedules

Cognizant Technology Solutions Spain S.L. (CTS Spain) will work under one of the Work Locations and Work Schedules outlined in the Global Work Model Policy. CTS Spain will have three Work Locations: Cognizant Facility, Client Facility, and Remote. The three Work From Home Schedule scenarios are:

- Hybrid Flexible: Working remotely officially for up to five (5) days. There is flexibility with how many days and which days. Cognizant Facility space reservation must be executed through Smart Space application and is based on space availability for selected days.
- Hybrid Fixed: Three (3) days remote / two (2) days working from a Cognizant Facility. Associates must select fixed days, and this will be reviewed and confirmed by Facilities, since they will be prioritized to work from a Cognizant Facility office.
- Remote: This is available only for Associates located in Spain in a location with no Cognizant Facility or client facilities.

Additional guiding principles

CTS Spain Associates may apply for a Work From Home Schedule only in Spain territory. The employee may be authorized to work from a temporary location which is different from their permanent Work Location for a maximum period of 30 days in a year period. In such case, if the employee would like to change the place where they work for a temporary period, they will notify this to the company in writing, giving at least 15 days prior notice. Cognizant has full discretion in the approval or denial of such requests. In addition to the considerations outlined in the Guiding Principles section of the Global Work Model Policy, Cognizant may also consider the reliability of connection and compliance with minimum health and safety requirement in accordance with Spanish health and safety law when reviewing an Associate's request. The procedure for requesting a Work From Home Schedule is available on the Spain Be.Cognizant HR page.

Cognizant facility of reference

All Associates performing a Hybrid Work From Home Schedule will be assigned to a Cognizant Facility of Reference. This is a Cognizant Facility where they can meet officially and periodically with their team(s) to maintain and improve the engagement with colleagues and clients. The frequency of office meetings will depend on the specific requirements of the Associate's job, the department, team, project, and/or requirements. The Home Manager will be responsible for organizing team meetings in a Cognizant Facility. Associates must complete each step, in the order set out below, the first time they will be reporting to a Cognizant Facility: (1) contact CWSiberia Team to request access to the Cognizant Facility for the first time, (2) do the EHS induction training, and (3) book their seat in Smart Space App.

Equipment

The remote work workstation must be suitably equipped and configured to enable the Associate to perform their role and duties effectively and safely. The Health and Safety (H&S) Coordinators may request Associates to provide documentation of their remote work workstation configuration to ensure compliance. This may include photos or a verification over video conference. When an Associate's Work From Home Schedule is approved, they will be provided with a suitable computer or laptop and supplementary IT equipment.

Allowances

CTS Spain will provide a monthly working from allowance of 20 € gross to compensate working from home expenses to all Associates who have been approved for one of the three Work From Home Schedule scenarios and have signed the Work From Home Agreement. This Work From Home allowance is directly linked to compensating for Work From Home expenses and is not, under any circumstances, a contractual right or one that may be consolidated. It will be paid through regular payroll.

Health and safety obligations

CTS Spain must, so far as is reasonably practicable, provide a safe place and safe system of work, and will continue to be responsible for the health and safety of an Associate performing a Work From Home Schedule - hybrid or remote. During either Work From Home Schedule, the Associate must:

- take care of their physical and mental health and safety and be mindful of that of others as per terms and conditions required by law and the Work From Home Agreement
- use equipment properly and as instructed
- cooperate with Cognizant on health and safety matters
- attend any health and safety training sessions
- complete the Work from Home (WFH) self-assessment
- share pictures or live video of their workstation, where necessary and requested
- report any suspected or actual health and safety defects or issues.

Associates must contact the H&S team or their Home Manager if they are experiencing any physical or mental health challenges. Their Home Manager, with the support of Health and Safety, will support them and provide them with relevant resources. Associates should discuss with the H&S Team or their Home Manager if they have any additional IT equipment requirements. A H&S Coordinator, if it deems it necessary, will request a photo of the Associate's workstation.

Health and safety assessments

CTS Spain also provide a Health & Safety training module and a WFH self-assessment to educate Associates about ergonomic safety, mental health, and home hazards. All Associates will receive an email with the module and WFH self-assessment, and regular reminders until it is completed from the Health & Safety team. This helps to detect possible deficiencies in the workstation area of the Associate for the purpose of Work From Home. Once the H&S Team analyzes the responses, the Associate will receive a report of their self-assessment and an action plan to correct any deficiencies. The assessment also provides an opportunity for Associates to raise concerns if they are experiencing any ergonomic issues. If any issues are raised, the H&S team will contact the Associate to provide further safe working from home guidance and advice. If it is determined by the H&S team that any equipment or support is required, CTS Spain will make arrangements for the equipment to be provided. Additionally, depending on the outcome of their WFH self-assessment, an Associate can be provided with any necessary ergonomic asset.

Working from home hours and schedule

As outlined in the Global Work Model Policy, Associates are expected to maintain productivity and performance regardless of their Work Location. This includes complying with their agreed working hours and agreed rules of availability. In the event of any technical difficulties that prevent the normal operation of remote work, such as system issues, the Associate must reach out to the support team contacts outlined in the Global Work Model Policy. In the event of personal appointments or family matters during working time, such requests must be approved in advance by their Home Manager.

The right to disconnect

The provision of labor will be carried out within the limits of the maximum duration of the working day established in the collective agreement, respecting the legally and conventionally provided rest times. As outlined in the Digital Disconnection Policy – Spain, the Associate's right to digital disconnection is guaranteed once their working hours ends.

Termination of remote or hybrid working

The Associate and Cognizant must provide at least five (5) working days' notice if either party wishes to suspend, terminate, or change their Work From Home Schedule. This notice period could vary if both parties agree.

Please click here to access the translated, Spanish version of this addendum.

India addendum

Scope

This addendum applies to all employees of all Cognizant entities, subsidiaries, and joint ventures over which Cognizant has control within India (collectively “Associates”).

Effective 2024, Associates are expected to regularly report to a Cognizant or client facility. Expectant and all returning mothers including those returning from Extended Maternity Leave (EML) and Maternity Loss of Pay (MLOP) will follow the Return to Work (RTO) maternity accommodations outlined in this addendum, in consultation with their Home Manager and HR Business Partner.

Work Model Compliance

The number of days of Associates working in a Cognizant or client facility and the number of days working remotely (Hybrid Model) shall be determined by the immediate supervisor or business head of the function and communicated to the Associate.

In line with the Global Work Model Policy, an Associate's Work Model and Location may be subject to change due to business conditions and regulatory compliance imposed by applicable regulatory authorities including Special Economic Zone notifications issued by the Ministry of Commerce and Industry along with such other Government notifications.

Associates who have been approved to have a Remote Work Model, will be tagged in HCM to the closest Cognizant facility for reporting purposes.

Pursuant to any operational or business requirements, Associates on any Work Model may be required to report at a different Work Location including client facility. Associates are required to comply with such change in Work Location.

In the event of Associates not complying with the assigned Work Model and/or Location, appropriate disciplinary action shall be taken as per internal rules and regulations. Refer to the Disciplinary Consequences section of the Global Work Model Policy.

At Cognizant, we are dedicated to fostering an inclusive environment where all Associates can thrive, while celebrating and embracing the diverse backgrounds and experiences of our workforce.

RTO Maternity Accommodations

At Cognizant, we are dedicated to fostering an inclusive environment where all Associates can thrive, while celebrating and embracing the diverse backgrounds and experiences of our workforce.

These guidelines for pre and post maternity RTO accommodations, support expectant and all returning mothers prioritize their health and safety, by balancing their professional and personal responsibilities.

Pre-Maternity

- First and Second Trimester: Expectant mothers may work in hybrid work model i.e., 2-3 days a week in office, with additional provisions for reduced hours in the office on a case-by-case basis.
- Last Trimester: Expectant mothers are allowed to work completely remote due to potential risks to their health during this period.

- Medical Complications: Any other medical complications during pregnancy that necessitate remote work will be evaluated and addressed on a case-by-case basis.

Post-Maternity

- Remote Work Model: Expectant and all returning mothers are eligible for 3 (three) months of remote work from the date of rejoining work.
- Hybrid Work Model: After 3 (three) months of remote work, expectant and returning mothers may opt-in for 2 (two) months of hybrid work, with 2-3 days in the office.
- Long-Term Arrangements: No blanket accommodations will be made post 5 (five) months from the date of return to work from maternity. A discretionary approach will be applied on a case-by-case basis.

Recordkeeping

Associates are responsible for keeping their remote working location address updated with Cognizant in A360 application in Present Residence Address field. Any long-term change in the Remote Work Location, within the same payroll country, must be approved by the Home Manager and updated in A360 application.

In case of Associates travelling and working away from their approved Remote Work Location for short duration, the Associate shall seek prior written approval from the Home Manager. Home Managers can not approve a temporary or long-term Remote Work Location that is outside of the Associate payroll country. Refer to the Temporary international remote work section of the Global Work Location Policy.

Timekeeping

All Associates must follow Cognizant TruTime and Timesheet adherence policies.

Connectivity issues

While the Associate is working remotely and having network connectivity problems, electrical service interruptions, or other disruptions that impact their ability to work, they must make diligent efforts to rectify the same. In the event the Associate is unable to stay connected to a network and not able to perform duties for a period exceeding four hours, Associates shall be considered as non-operational/ absent from duty and accordingly Associate must record their absence/ leave for such period within True Time and Time Sheet.

Personal activities and virtual recordings

Associates must not take photos and/or share on social media any information related to the work performed remotely and any information about the Associate's work. Refer to the External Communications & Social Media Policy for detailed expectations.

Telecommuting expenses during remote working

To ensure our Associates have a stable internet connection for business continuity, Cognizant will reimburse Associates, up to Associate Director Level, for their internet connection when they are in an approved Work Model that includes remote working for some or all the time. The monthly reimbursement will be capped at 1,000 INR (inclusive of taxes) effective 1st December 2022.

Eligibility will be confirmed by the Business and payment is at the sole discretion of Cognizant.

The reimbursement will be processed through bankcards. To enable there are steps the Associate must complete. For full details on the process, refer to the India Internet Reimbursement and Credit Card Application Process and Internet Reimbursement \(India\) FAQ's. Cognizant may request receipts to verify that the internet network service address matches the Associate's approved remote location, and the service is in the Associate's name.

Allowances and reimbursements approach and limits can be reevaluated and changed by Cognizant at any point of time and such changes will be communicated to Associates.

Other than the above stated reimbursement, there shall be no reimbursement or refund of any other cost or expenses incurred by the Associate when working remotely.

Chile addendum

Scope

This addendum applies to all employees of all Cognizant entities, subsidiaries, and joint ventures over which Cognizant has operational control (collectively “Associates”) within Chile.

Telework definition

For our Associates in Chile, Telework consists of activities carried out by the Associate at an approved location, outside the premises of Cognizant or our client for at least one (1) day a week or more. Productivity and quality of work must be the same as if the Associate were in a Cognizant or client’s office. Other rules and policies remain in force even with the application of Telework.

Hybrid options

In addition to the face-to-face regime at the office, Chile will have two hybrid contracts:

- One (1) or two (2) days per week working from a Telework location or
- Three (3) or more days per week working from a Telework location.

Recordkeeping

Associates are responsible for keeping their teleworking address updated with Cognizant. This address will be shared with work risk insurance and cannot be changed without approval from the Associate’s Home Manager and the execution of the corresponding employment contract addendum. The address will be shared with the insurance administration entity in accordance with law No. 16.744 to ensure the Associate receives any applicable benefits.

Timekeeping and overtime

Associates are paid to conduct their workday as if they were at the assigned worksite, meaning that the Associate will clock in and out as required by Cognizant policy and take appropriate breaks, including lunch. As in the office, the Associate’s Home Manager must approve any overtime or schedule changes in advance in writing. No overtime can be performed without prior approval. This includes any access of Cognizant and client systems including checking and responding to email outside of the established work schedule.

Connectivity issues and work interruption

If the Associate is having connectivity problems, electrical service interruptions, system issue, the need to care for an individual at the teleworking location, or any other circumstances that would cause a work interruption, the Associate must report this to their Manager within 15 minutes or as soon as reasonable possible to obtain direction.

Safe working conditions

Cognizant will adopt all necessary actions to effectively protect the life and health of all its Associates and as far as reasonably possible and practicable. Cognizant will accompany and care for its Associates to ensure health and safety. For this reason, Associates teleworking should pay attention and care with:

- health and (physical and mental) safety and the people around you.
- using the appropriate equipment and in the correct way.
- paying attention and cooperate with the instructions shared by Cognizant.
- attending Health and Safety training.
- reporting any suspected or real health and safety situation to Cognizant team and Associate’s Home Manager.

Accidents that occur during the working day as a consequence or with the occasion of the work in the terms established in law No. 16,744, would be considered accidents at work. Any type of accidents, after seeking urgent medical service if required, must be immediately reported for analysis and information to the HRSS team or by email to PayrollHelpdeskLATAM@cognizant.com.

Company and client equipment

To have the minimum requirements to perform the activities safely and properly, the Associate must continue to use the computer or laptop already made available by Cognizant or the client, subject to approval by Corporate Security. The use of personal equipment and devices depends on the express approval of Corporate Security. Refer to section III of the Acceptable Use Policy for full details and requirements.

Personal travel and activities

Associates must not travel or undertake personal activities during Telework periods, within or outside Associate's home city.

Transitional change of workplace

If the Associate needs to transitionally change the Telecommuting workplace, they are required to request the change through their Home Manager. The Home Manager must obtain approval of the Director of the BU, Project, or Practice in addition to having the validation of the HR Partner. Consult the internal procedure with your Home Manager or HR Partner.

Teleworking expenses

Cognizant will provide a monthly allowance for teleworking that will depend on the number of teleworking days effectively teleworked as agreed by the parties in the respective addendum of total or hybrid teleworking. The monthly allowance for teleworking expenses is intended to compensate for the higher expenses in the workplace, for electricity, water, gas, internet, telephone or any other expenses required for the timely and complete rendering of the telework services. The amount will be full or partial, depending on the agreed hybrid or full teleworking option.

Cognizant will pay this amount on payroll as "monthly allowance for teleworking".

Based on legal framework the teleworking allowance is not considered remuneration or benefit for any purpose. It also does not constitute the right to keep the equipment or allowance provided after Associate return to work in the office.

Right to disconnect

Associates have the right to disconnect from work. Associate must take 12 consecutive hours of rest in a period of 24 hours. During this time, the Associate is not obliged to complete any working, including checking, responding to email, and voicemail. The Home and Business Manager must not contact the Associate during this time. As a global company, the Associate may receive emails during this time, but again should not be checking or responding to these emails. The same conditions will be applicable outside the working schedule, regarding employees subject to a limited, determined workday, notwithstanding the overtime agreements that could be executed between the parties.

Argentina addendum

Scope

The Argentina Addendum is applicable to Associates hired under Argentinean labor laws and regulations (“Current Legislation”) by Cognizant. Telework will be managed in compliance with Section 10 of Law 27,555.

Remote work/telework definition

Where Remote Working is used in the Global Work Model Policy, it means Telework for our Associates in Argentina. Telework consists of activities carried out by the Associate at an approved location, outside the premises of Cognizant and/or client office for at least one (1) day a week or more. Productivity and quality of work must be the same as if the Associate were in a Cognizant or client’s office. Other rules and policies remain in force even with the application of Telework.

Hybrid options

In addition to the face-to-face regime at the office, Argentina will have two hybrid contracts:

- One (1) or two (2) days per week working from a Telework location or
- Three (3) or more days per week working from a Telework location

Recordkeeping

Associates are responsible for keeping their remote working address updated with Cognizant. This address will be shared with work risk insurance and cannot be changed without approval from the Associate’s Home Manager.

Timekeeping and overtime

Associates are paid to conduct their workday as if they were at the assigned worksite, meaning that associate will clock in and out as required by Company policy and take appropriate breaks, including lunch. As in the office, the Associate’s Home Manager must approve any overtime or schedule changes in advance in writing. No overtime can be performed without prior approval. This includes any access of Cognizant and client systems including checking and responding to email outside of the established work schedule.

Connectivity issues

If the Associate is having connectivity problems, electrical service interruptions or the environmental conditions are not adequate for the labor debt, the Associate will be required to report to the nearest Cognizant or Client office within the first hour after the interruption occurred. Associates not located in Buenos Aires (hired in this condition or previously authorized) must contact their Manager to determine an appropriate solution. Disciplinary sanctions could be applied in case of not complying with the full working day. Refer to the Disciplinary Consequences section of the Global Work Model Policy.

Safe working conditions

The workplace, regardless of location, must be properly equipped so that the Associate can perform their role and tasks effectively and safely. Pursuant to Resolution 1552/2012, Cognizant shall provide equipment that meets the required Health and Safety standards, as well as an instructional manual for safety and hygiene in teleworking.

Cognizant, within its legal obligation as an employer, will support and care for its Associates to ensure health and safety. The foregoing is in accordance with Section 75 of the Labor Contract

Law. For this reason, the associates on Teleworking schedules should pay attention and care with:

- the health and (physical and mental) safety and the people around you.
- using the appropriate equipment and in the correct way.
- cooperating with any and all instructions shared by Cognizant.
- attending Health and Safety training.
- taking small breaks and doing stretching exercises throughout the workday.
- reporting any suspected or real health and safety situation to Cognizant team and Associate's Home Manager.

Accidents that occur during the working day are considered accidents at work. Any type of accident must be reported for analysis and information to the HRSS team or by email to PayrollHelpdeskLATAM@cognizant.com, after seeking appropriate medical care.

Company and client equipment

To have the minimum requirements to perform the activities safely and properly, the associate must continue to use the computer or laptop already made available by Cognizant and/or the client, subject to approval by Corporate Security. The use of personal equipment and devices depends on the express approval of Corporate Security. Refer to section III of the Acceptable Use Policy for full details and requirements.

Personal travel and activities

Associates must not travel or undertake personal activities during Telework periods, within or outside Associate's home city.

Associates must not take photos and/or share on social media any information related to the work performed at home and any information about the Associate's work. Refer to the External Communications & Social Media Policy detailed expectations.

Transitional change of workplace

If the Associate needs to transitionally change the Telecommuting workplace, they are required to request the change through their Home Manager. The Home Manager must obtain approval of the Director of the BU, Project, or Practice in addition to having the validation of the HR Partner. Consult the internal procedure with your Home Manager or HR Partner.

Remote working expenses

Associate will receive a gross non-remunerative maximum monthly payment in Argentine pesos for Teleworking expenses to comply with Section 10 of Law 27,555. The payment amount will vary depending on the Telework days agreed to cover additional home expenses incurred from the Working Model.

Belgium addendum

The remote workstation must be suitably equipped and configured to enable the Associate to perform their role and duties effectively and safely. The Health and Safety (H&S) Prevention advisor may request Associates to provide documentation of their remote work workstation configuration to ensure compliance. This may include photos or a verification over video conference. When an Associate's Work Schedule is approved, they will be provided with a suitable computer or laptop and supplementary IT equipment.

Cognizant must, as is reasonably practicable, provide a safe place and safe system of work, and will continue to be responsible for the health and safety of the Associates performing their work from home in hybrid or remote mode. Therefore, the same policies that are applicable in our facilities also apply to Associates when working from home. In line with those policies, Associate must:

- take care of their physical and mental health and safety and be mindful of that of others as required by law and the Global Work Model Policy and this addendum (Belgian addendum to the Global Work Model Policy).
- use equipment properly and as instructed
- cooperate with Cognizant on health and safety matters
- attend any health and safety training sessions
- complete the Work from Home (WFH) self-assessment timely
- share pictures or live video of their workstation with the prevention advisor by email where necessary and requested and
- report any suspected or actual health and safety defects or issues

Associates must immediately contact Cognizant Belgium's Prevention Advisor (as listed in Appendix B of the Work Regulations) or their Home Manager if they are experiencing any physical or mental health challenges. The Home Manager, with the support of the Health and Safety (H&S) team, will support the Associate and provide them with relevant resources. Associates should discuss with the H&S team or their Home Manager if they have any additional equipment requirements. A H&S Advisor, if it is deemed necessary, may request a photo of the Associate's workstation to complete their evaluation. If requested, a photo must be provided timely.

Associates should review Article 34 of the Work Regulations for further details about Cognizant responsibilities for Associates' well-being in the performance of their work.

Cognizant also provides a Health & Safety training module and a work from home self-assessment to educate Associates about ergonomic safety. All Associates will receive an email with the module and the self-assessment. This helps to detect possible deficiencies in the (remote) workstation area of the Associate.

Working from home hours and schedule

As outlined in the Global Work Model Policy and Article 14 of the Work Regulations, Associates are expected to maintain productivity and performance regardless of their Work Location. This includes complying with their agreed working hours and agreed rules of availability. In the event of any technical difficulties that prevent the normal operation of remote work, such as system issues, the Associate must reach out to the IT support team (GSD Ticket). In the event of personal appointments or family matters during working hours, such requests must be approved in advance by the Associate's Home Manager.

Disconnection and use of digital communication tools

Associates should refer to the "Disconnection and use of digital communication tools" section of the Work Regulations which applies to all Associates, regardless of their Work Location and Work Schedule.

Netherlands addendum

Eligibility

Associates in ADP (Associate Practice Deployable Pool) are expected to be available in the office, in line with ADP Guidelines.

Recordkeeping

Associates are responsible for keeping their remote working location address updated with Cognizant in A360 application in Present Residence Address field. Any long-term change in the Remote Work Location, within the same payroll country, must be approved by the Home Manager and updated in A360 application. In case of Associates travelling and working away from their approved Remote Work Location for short duration within their payroll country, the Associate shall seek prior written approval from the Home Manager. Home Managers cannot approve a temporary or long-term Remote Work Location that is outside of the Associate payroll country. Refer to the Temporary international remote work section of the Global Work Location Policy.

Safe working conditions

Cognizant will adopt all necessary actions to effectively protect the life and health of all its Associates and as far as reasonably possible and practicable. Cognizant will accompany and care for its Associates to ensure health and safety. When circumstances put Associate's wellbeing at risk, Cognizant's Employee Assistance Program \(EAP\) provides confidential free services, resources, and webinars to help Associates and their family. Associates must ensure that the working conditions at home are compliant with the working conditions act – and follow the steps laid out in this policy. Associates should pay attention and care with:

- health and (physical and mental) safety and the people around you.
- using the appropriate equipment and in the correct way.
- paying attention and cooperating with the instructions shared by Cognizant.
- attending Health and Safety training.
- reporting any suspected or real health and safety situation to Cognizant team and Associate's Home Manager.

Checklist

In order to validate that your workstation at home is compliant with the legal requirements, you must complete the following checklist (link: Checklist) where you need to include a picture of your workstation. If HR assesses that the workstation is not in line with health & safety requirements, you will have to adjust it before you will be allowed to work from home.

Brazil addendum

Remote working allowance

Associate will receive a gross non-remunerative maximum monthly payment in Brazil currency for Teleworking expenses to comply with Law. The payment amount will be applied considering 1 day or more on Telework to cover additional home expenses incurred from the Working Model.

Colombia addendum

Definitions

- Hybrid Working: Two (2) or more days a week, the Associate will render the services from the approved remote location within their payroll country, under the modality of supplementary telework. On the remainder of the week, the Associate will provide the services from Cognizant or a client's facility, in accordance with Law 1221 de 2008, Decree 884 of 2012 and Decree 1227 of 2022.
- Fully Remote Working: Associate will render the services full-time from an approved remote work location within their payroll country, under the modality of autonomous telework. In this Fully Remote work model, the Associate may still travel to a work location at Cognizant or the client's facilities, for occasional meetings if and as required, in accordance with Law 1221 of 2008, Decree 884 of 2012 and Decree 1227 of 2022.

Hybrid Options

In addition to the face-to-face regime at the office, Colombia has two (2) hybrid contracts:

- Two (2) or three (3) days per week working from a Telework location or
- Four (4) or more days per week working from a Telework location

Guiding Principles

During Hybrid or Fully Remote working, the Associate must:

- Indicate work location within the payroll country by Cognizant's internal systems, by notifying their Home Manager, who cannot be changed without prior approval. Such work location will be shared with the Occupational Hazards Entity (ARL, for its acronym in Spanish) to ensure the Associate's complete coverages.
- Be paid to conduct workday as if the Associate were at the assigned worksite, meaning that Associate will clock-in at the beginning of the scheduled workday, take appropriate breaks and lunch, clocking in and out as required by Cognizant's policy. Working hours should not vary based unless previously approved. Associate's manager/HCM supervisor must approve any overtime or schedule changes in advance. No overtime work can be done without prior approval. This prohibition includes:
 - any access of Cognizant and client's systems and,
 - checking and responding emails outside of the established working schedule. These measures are intended to guarantee the Associate's labor disconnection right.

Associates eligible for Hybrid or Fully Remote Working

Cognizant will implement the supplementary and autonomous teleworking scheme, so that Associates whose area/Client is part of the following categories and are in Colombia will be part of the program:

- Hybrid Working – supplementary teleworking: apply according to the Area/ Client.
- Fully Remote Working – autonomous teleworking: apply according to the Area/Client.

Associate's Obligations

During the term of the employment agreement, the Associate must make proper use of equipment and software, this obligation includes measures to ensure the confidentiality of information as follows:

- Not to install under any circumstance software or applications in the equipment owned by Cognizant.
- The special requirements of non-standard applications must be handled exclusively by IT, under a business justification previously validated by Cognizant.
- The Associate shall be solely liable regarding the software that they have installed on their own initiative, without the prior written authorization. The Associate shall also be liable before any authority that for any reason may inspect the equipment in use.
- Not to use Cognizant-owned equipment and software to create, download or distribute sexual, offensive, or inappropriate material.
- Ensure the care of the equipment assigned; therefore, food, beverages and other similar objects must be kept away from them, as well as keep under extreme security the portable computer equipment.
- Not to send mass e-mails through institutional e-mail account to personnel, clients or friends without prior authorization from Cognizant.
- Not to use Cognizant-owned equipment used for the creation, storage, exchange or generation of data, such as computers, faxes, scanners, printers, cell phones, or any other similar equipment, to perform activities other than those entrusted by Cognizant.
- Refrain from creating or using personal e-mail or instant messaging accounts during working hours and from Cognizant-owned equipment.
- Expressly authorize the Cognizant to remove at any time the equipment assigned, for the purpose of detecting malicious software (virus), in which case they shall immediately inform if there is privileged information that should be subject to reserve or custody.
- To use in due form the technological tools that Cognizant has made available, especially those related to document management, human resources management and operation (customer service, purchasing, budget, contracts, commercial, among others).
- The e-mail account assigned to the Associate is a work tool that must be used exclusively for work purposes and, therefore, the information that circulates through this means will be classified material property of Cognizant. The Associate expressly agrees that Cognizant will audit their e-mail account periodically.
- The use of personal equipment and devices depends on the express approval of Corporate Security. Refer to section III of the Acceptable Use Policy for full details and requirements.
- To comply with the instructions regarding the use and appropriation of information and communication technologies, as well as digital security, provided by Cognizant.
- To provide truthful information about the work location, as well as any change that may occur.
- Efficiently comply with the established activities and goals, submitting the required reports and responsibly handling the information.
- Be available during the working hours unless otherwise agreed with Associate's manager/HCM supervisor or during the applicable variable schedules.

- Be available and accessible through Microsoft Teams (or equivalent business applications), email and mobile and able to respond promptly during Associate's scheduled working hours.
- Report any issues that would cause them to be non-productive to their supervisor within 15 minutes, in order to obtain directions on how to proceed. This includes but it is not limited to electrical power outage, internet outage, and system issues.
- Require approval from Associate's manager/HCM supervisor for potential schedule adjustments (leaves of absence, for errands, appointments, family matters, etc.).

Other measures

- Cognizant will control and supervise the remote activity of the Associate by telematic, computer and electronic means. The Associate freely consents to hold meetings through videoconferences applications with Cognizant, clients and/or third parties, without considering this a violation of their privacy.
- The Associate will have the same rights and obligations as those Associates working on-site.
- When the services rendered do not demand commuting, the Associate will not be entitled to a transportation allowance.

Support

- In the event the Associate requires to file a labor harassment complaint, they may address it via www.cognizant.com/compliance-helpline.
- In the event the Associate requires to file a complaint or request related to the HRSS team, they may refer to the Global Resolution Framework policy and address it to PayrollHelpdeskLATAM@cognizant.com.
- To inform and report labor related accidents or occupational illnesses, the Associate should immediately contact PayrollHelpdeskLATAM@cognizant.com.

Recordkeeping

Associates are responsible for keeping their remote working address (workplace) updated with Cognizant. This address will be shared with the ARL and cannot be changed without approval from the Associate's Home Manager.

Working hours and schedule

Associates are paid to conduct their workday as if they were at the assigned worksite, meaning that Associate will clock-in and out as required by Cognizant's policy and take appropriate breaks, including lunch. Associate's Manager must approve any overtime or schedule changes in advance in writing. No overtime can be performed without prior approval. This prohibition includes:

- any access of Cognizant and client's systems and,
- checking and responding emails outside of the established working schedule.

Wellbeing, health and safety

The workplace must be properly equipped so that the Associate can perform their role and tasks effectively and safely, for this, it is necessary to have:

- Table or flat surface to support the computer.
- Adequate chair and suitable equipment.
- Good lighting and ventilation.
- Computer provided by Cognizant and/or the client.
- Good internet connection; both in speed and reliability.

To have the minimum requirements for carrying out activities safely and properly, the Associate must continue to use the computer or laptop already made available by Cognizant and/or the client, as well as keep the workplace adequate to comply with all occupational health requirements.

Cognizant, as far as reasonably possible, will accompany and care for its Associates to ensure health and safety, with the support of the ARL, even in the remote working address. For this reason, the Associates on Fully Remote or Hybrid Working, should pay attention and care with:

- Health and (physical and mental) safety and the people around them.
- Use the appropriate equipment and in the correct way.
- Pay attention and cooperate with the instructions shared by Cognizant.
- Attend health and safety training.
- Report any suspected or real health and safety situation to Cognizant's team and Associates' manager/HCM supervisor.

The Associate must fill out the Self-Report of Working Conditions for the identification of teleworking risks. Likewise, the Associate must implement the corrective recommendations arising from the verification of safety and health conditions made by the ARL.

Cognizant will include teleworking in its methodology for the identification, evaluation, assessment and control of hazards and risks, adopting the necessary actions according to its annual Work Plan of the Occupational Safety and Health System.

Prior to the implementation of teleworking, Cognizant will train and conduct activities related to prevention and promotion of occupational hazards mainly in self-care, mental health and ergonomic or biomechanical risk factors, as well as use and appropriation of cyber security. These trainings may be carried out in person or virtually, according to organizational needs. Accidents that occur during the working hours could be considered related work accidents. Any type of accidents must be reported for analysis and informed to the HRSS team or by email to PayrollHelpdeskLATAM@cognizant.com.

Personal Travel and Activities

Associates must not travel or undertake personal activities during telework periods, unless previously authorized by the Associate's Home Manager.

Associates must not take photos and/or share on social media any information related to the work performed at the approved remote location and any information about the Associate's work. Refer to the External Communications & Social Media Policy for detailed expectations.

Transitional Change of Workplace

If the Associate needs to transitionally change the teleworking workplace, they are required to request the change authorization to the Home Manager. The Manager must obtain approval of the Director of the BU, Project, or Practice in addition to having the validation of the HR Partner. The Associate must consult the internal procedure with the Home Manager or HR Partner.

Modification of Labor Conditions

Any other employment agreement conditions remain the same. This Policy contains information and recommendations to better perform during Hybrid or Fully Remote Working, structure, location, technical support, work equipment, ergonomics and work-related accidents, processes, and eligibility.

All Cognizant policies, including the Acceptable Use Policy and Code of Ethics are applicable to all Associates, including those working remotely. Client security protocols and acceptable use policies may also be applicable, depending on the Associate's role and project.

Cognizant may revoke immediately and unilaterally, the habilitation of telework in the event that the Associate:

- Does not fill out the Self-Report of Working Conditions in the term defined by Cognizant.
- Includes information that does not correspond to reality within the Self-Report of Working Conditions.
- Does not provide services from the location that was reported to Cognizant for these purposes.
- To perform other activities within the teleworking hours.

The HRSS team shall be responsible for implementing and verifying compliance with this Policy.

Termination of Hybrid and Fully Remote Work

If for any reason or circumstance, it is necessary for a Fully Remote or Hybrid Working arrangement to end, the Associate must return and render service at the Cognizant or Client Facility. This will not imply worsening of working conditions for the Associate.

North America addendum

Scope

This addendum applies to all employees of all Cognizant entities, subsidiaries, and joint ventures over which Cognizant has operational control (collectively “Associates”) within USA and Canada.

Guiding Principles

Cognizant’s corporate arrangements are designed around Associates living and working in the same country as their legal employer (unless on a Company-approved international business trip or international assignment under the relevant corporate policy).

Living in Canada and Working in the US (and vice versa)

In line with the Guiding Principles, the Company will not permit employment arrangements whereby an Associate resides in Canada and is employed by CTS US Corporation. This is due to complex Canadian payroll tax and social security regulations which create onerous and challenging compliance obligations on both Associates and the Company. For similar reasons, the Company will also not permit employment arrangements whereby an Associate resides in the US and is employed by CTS Canada.